Who is the Southeast Concrete Masonry Association?

Since 1946, the SCMA has been the largest advocate for the use of concrete masonry units. We’re comprised of CMU manufacturers with over 70 facilities producing 120M CMU “Block” annually in five states including North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, and Georgia. Our diversified 314 associate member locations consist of aggregates suppliers, cement suppliers, mortar mix suppliers, admixtures, equipment and services to our industry.

SCMA is a non-profit trade organization formed to promote the quality use of masonry materials and as well as the economic advantages and many uses of concrete masonry units, designs and codes for residential and commercial concrete construction.

The SCMA is the largest concrete masonry association in the United States based of geography with a long range focus on educational and promotional activities on why block is the world’s safest building products.

Vision

The SCMA is the bridge for the concrete masonry industry to maximize its resources to ensure together we promote concrete masonry products as the first choice the commercial and residential markets. We’re a building solutions provider through education to architects, engineers, designers, general contractors and owners to ensure a continuous masonry learning environment is promoted on how to use wall systems effectively, efficiently and most importantly safely.

Our Objectives

• Promote the use of concrete masonry products in a five-state footprint which includes North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia & Virginia.
• Primary information source in areas of promotional and education support to all members.
• Unyielding advocacy for the use of concrete masonry products throughout the region.
• Close affiliation with NCMA on technical data ASTM standards/codes and education promotions.
• Supportive voice of vocational training program & workforce development in the region.

Our Approach

The SCMA is committed to changing mindsets through our Five-Prong Promotion Approach

• Professional Level
• College Level
• High School Level
• General Public
• Social Media

Together we will be smarter. We will change mindsets. We will educate people today for future generations.

We will be education minded and solution driven. We are and will continue to be a Safety-First industry driven by the power of building safer, happier, healthier, thriving communities. Our block family is committed to working with folks who share our vision of knowing that the safety of communities should always be put before cost. Together, we have a moral responsibility to build with safety in mind. Our families are counting on us to make the right decisions to build a safer tomorrow.
